

SOCIETY OF ANTIQUARIES
OF LONDON

Burlington House
Piccadilly
London
W1J 0BE

Permissions and copyright

Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to use all illustrations and prose or poetry extracts, and for paying any reproduction or copyright fees. Permission should be sought to reproduce illustrations and text in electronic form as well as in conventional print.

Copyright in the UK extends over the life of the author and seventy years from the end of the year in which the author dies. Different rules apply in other countries.

Copyright is to be cleared for any prose extract longer than 400 words; a series totalling more than 800 words; a series of which any one is more than 300 words; an extract or series of extracts comprising quarter of the work or more.

For poetry, copyright is to be cleared for an extract of a quarter of a complete poem or a series of extracts comprising a quarter or more of a complete poem.

If you are asked for your book's print run, please contact the editor (lporter@sal.org.uk).

Useful sources

Advice and guidance on all matters of spelling, punctuation and so on, can be found in the following publications:

Ritter, R M 2012. The Oxford Style Manual, 2nd edn, Oxford: Oxford University Press (this incorporates The New Oxford Dictionary for Writers and Editors and the New Hart's Rules)

Signposts for Archaeological Publication, 3rd edn, 1991, London: Council for British Archaeology (CBA). This includes the CBA 'list of standard abbreviations' as Appendix A. It is available online at:

<http://www.archaeologyuk.org/sites/www.britarch.ac.uk/files/node-files/signposts\_archpub\_3rded.pdf>

MHRA Style Guide, 3rd edn, 2013, London: Modern Humanities Research Association. Available online at:

<<http://www.mhra.org.uk/Publications/Books/StyleGuide/download.shtml>>